Knee-deep in a dumpster. Hidden in a drop ceiling. Digging up dirt on Robert De Niro's blackmailer. Getting copies of Larry King's hotel bill. Uncovering your most personal secrets. Kevin McKeown knows how easy it is to find out anything about anyone—from credit card, bank account, and Social Security numbers to family histories. A top investigator and security advisor, he has spent the last twenty years doing covert sleuthing for everyone from Fortune 500 companies to government agencies to A-list Hollywood celebrities. Now this professional insider shares the tools of his trade, and offers concrete tips for safeguarding our lives from the threats posed by the everyday conveniences we take for granted, from the cell phone to the family car. You'll learn about:-- Shoulder surfing

-- Behavioral fingerprints

-- The black box

-- Traveling eyes

-- Phone clone And what you can do to protect yourself Entertaining, informative, and instructive, with thrilling accounts of McKeown's high-profile cases, Your Secrets Are My Business is a must-read for everyone who wants to keep their secrets to themselves.
