Fifteen years ago, Patricia Comeford was in the middle of a life-transforming career change and desperately looking for some guidance. While she found plenty of books about the nuts and bolts of a job search, she couldn't find one to help her through the spiritual, personal, and introspective aspects. Now, using the insights she gained as a headhunter helping hundreds of others to achieve their career goals, she's written the book she was looking for "Lessons from a Headhunter?with Heart " is a guided journey that will help readers: and#8213; Honestly assess what they really want from a job + and#8213; Knock down the barriers that keep them from their true life's work and#8213; Chart a realistic course to career satisfaction "Lessons from a Headhunter?with Heart " speaks to any professional who has ever thought about making a job change, but doesn't know where to begin. This unique self-help book provides the support, encouragement, and advice job seekers need.
