Ella Deloria (1889-1971), one of the first Native students of linguistics and ethnography in the United States, grew up on the Standing Rock Reservation on the northern Great Plains and was trained by Franz Boas at Columbia University. "Dakota Texts" presents a rich array of Sioux mythology and folklore in its original language and in translation. Originally published in 1932 by the American Ethnological Society, this work is a landmark contribution to the study of the Sioux tribes. Ella Deloria's other writings include a collaboration with Franz Boas, "Dakota Grammar", as well as "Speaking of Indians" and "Waterlily" (both available in Bison Books editions). Raymond J. DeMallie is a professor of anthropology at Indiana University and the editor of "The Sixth Grandfather: Black Elk's Teachings Given to John G. Neihardt" (Nebraska 1984).
