As the definitive history book of trophy whitetail deer in North America, the much anticipated fourth edition of the Boone and Crockett Club publication, "Records of North American Whitetail Deer is now available," This greatly-expanded edition includes over 7,500 listings of whitetail deer from the Boone and Crockett Club's Records Program, which was started in 1932. In addition to these state-by-state listings of the top scoring whitetail deer from the late 1800s to 2002, the book also includes editorial features covering a range of topics of interest to deer managers, biologists, and hunters. Along with each state and provincial listing is a map showing record book deer distribution, photographs of each state typical and non-typical record, and numerous field photos of other top scoring deer from across North America. Also, of specific interest to whitetail deer aficionados, each listing includes key measurements such as main beam length, spread measurements, and number of points, plus final score, location and year taken, and the names of the hunter and owner. Every listing is ranked within each state or province, plus each deer's state and all-time rankings are included so a reference can be made to how each state compares in terms of producing trophy-class bucks. Copies of the score charts for typical and non-typical whitetail deer are included with basic scoring instructions so that hunters can score their own trophies.
