This book is about the one percent of us who have not chosen to live safely, but have left the constraints of society to be outlaws. The motorcycling community offers a natural sanctuary to those with their own morals, values, and aesthetics. Just by choosing such a flamboyant and dangerous sport, motorcyclists have always been outlaws to some extent, but the One Percenters live this life to the full, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. This book tells the story of this rebellion without a cause - other than freedom and living to the extreme. From the earliest days of the subculture - when World War II veterans began forming motorcycle clubs - up to the present day this is the real-life account of the Wild Ones, who have made their own world unashamedly.
