In the midst of a cultural renaissance that is rapidly changing the face of Canada's biggest metropolis, boomtown Toronto continues to attract a growing number of visitors and residents alike. They're coming for the dynamic pace of life in a non-stop city that speaks in more languages than any other place on earth. Toronto celebrates living with culture as it marks the opening of its new opera house, museum makeovers by Daniel Libeskind and Frank Gehry and more theatre, festivals and live music venues. Five-star hotels are rushing to fill a gap at the high end and a new airline is reviving a downtown airport. All of which makes the third edition of "Time Out Toronto" a more valued companion to the city than ever before.
