Richly saturated, full-color photographs capture Washington as never before in this volume by award-winning landscape photographer Charles Gurche. From his home base in Spokane, Gurche has traveled all around the state photographing it in all four seasons, from Pacific beaches to the top of the Cascades. Wildflower closeups, waterfalls, rivers and ocean, historic buildings and other man-made structures, the play of light and shadow, seasonal changes, panoramic vistas—all these and more attract his eye and, in turn, reward the viewer.
