"I am three years old I am so strong I am so smart Look at what I own " In this bilingual (Spanish/English) very early reader, Little Lalo receives inspiration from the famous

Mexican "loterA-a" game. Since Lalo is the King of Things and three years old besides, he plays the cards and counts as his possessions the sun, the moon, a lion, a fish, a clown, a train, the crown on his head. Each card in Lalo's kingdom has its own page, illustrated with a playful brightly colored woodcut. Born in TacAmbaro, MichoacAn, Artemio Rodriguez is a woodcut artist known for his prints in Dagoberto Gilb's "Woodcuts of Women." He lives and works in Los Angeles.
