""Artificial Light" beats the "bejeezus" out of the last dozen Thomas Pynchons, the last nineteen Don DeLillos, and the last forty-three Kurt Vonneguts."--Richard Meltzer Stunningly written in prose that is poetic, gripping, and highly adventurous, "Artificial Light" may be the first American novel to successfully treat the alternative rock scene of the 1990s as a subject for serious literature. James Greer, a novelist and screenwriter, has written for "Spin," "Tennis Magazine," "Sunfish Holy Breakfast," and Paris Hilton. He is the author of "Guided by Voices: A Brief History: Twenty-One Years of Hunting Accidents in the Forests of Rock 'n' Roll" (Grove, 2005). He lives in Los Angeles.
