Traveling salesman Hurdis Jones is an ordinary man on an uneventful trip through the Midwest, until he gives a seriously ill hitchhiker a ride to the hospital. That's when he starts getting pounding headaches, bizarre hallucinations and blackouts. He feels like he's being followed and stumbles upon mutilated bodies.... A dedicated family man, all Hurdis Jones wants to do is make it home to his worried wife and kids. But his journey becomes impossibly long and fraught with horror.
