As the illegitimate daughter of an unnamed baron, Genevieve Penny, lady's maid to the match making Featherston sisters, yearns for the highborn status she feels she's been denied. When her penchant for finery lands Jenny in debt up to her studded earlobes, she decides to sell her peppermint lotion, which has aphrodisiac properties, and Lady Eros's Cream becomes the talk of the town. Meanwhile, the Featherston sisters decide to hone their matchmaking skills by passing Jenny off to Society as a family friend. In no time, Jenny catches the eye of Callum Campbell, a handsome Scottish Marquis, and begins living the life of her dreams by day, while churning out gallipots of cream by night. Soon, her double life begins to catch up with her and what started out as a lark turns serious as Jenny falls for the dashing Callum. But will his feelings for her change when he discovers his Lady is actually a maid?
