“Edmier’ s work celebrates popular culture’ s intrusion into our dreams, the way media images insinuate themselves into our unconscious, like uninvited guests.” — Contemporary Magazine

This unique publication showcases the work of one of America’s foremost young sculptors. Each comes with a specially created plastic rose in honor of his work capturing the cultural and emotional significance of flowers. Also included is a loose leaflet showing the installation “Bremen Town,” which was part of the comprehensive exhibition “Keith Edmier 1991–2007” at Bard college in New York from October 2007 through February 2008. The installation featured a full-scale reproduction of the interior spaces from the home in which Edmier grew up in Tinley Park, a suburb of Chicago.
