Take a peek into your neighbours homes and celebrate the diverse nature of the UK today with this fantastic collection of photographs, stories and essays. This visual time capsule of life in the UK at the start of the 21st century features both professional and amateur photographers as well as essays from literary heavyweights including Will Self, Blake Morrison and Alain de Botton and a stirring introduction from Sir Paul McCartney. So lets celebrate our multi-cultural society and look behind the doors of the UK AT HOME. For a unique gift, you can customize your cover with a photo of your own by going to the UK AT HOME website to order your very own personalised book jacket!
