Matt Hawkins lives in Kansas City. By day, he works at a major greeting card company as a production designer. By night he stays up way too late making paper models and writing and drawing indie comic books. He also does a lot of freelance illustration work. Matt also has a blog, www.custompapertoys.com , that includes lots of his own papertoy work.

Hip designers will love this collection of 25 paper toys ready to be cut out and built. This fun project book includes step-by-step instructions, diagrams, and a section about how to design your own paper toys from scratch. Plus, a bonus CD-ROM features patterns for all 25 toys and even more templates to print out. Complete with interviews from the toy designers, this fun guide gives you everything you need to build and even design your own cutting edge urban paper toys.
