Taking the answers to millions of questionnaires from universities, publishers and insurance companies, an institute set up by Gunter Sachs has analysed the extensive data, in cooperation with the statistics department of the University of Munich, and written this extraordinary book. This is not a book of predictions, it is a sensational book which shows conclusive evidence of connection between events and star signs. Marriage, divorce, single people, suicide, academic life, work, illness, death, criminal activities, driving accidents are all analysed with extensive user-friendly charts and graphs to enable the reader to spot his own data and those of his closest friends, lovers, partners, children and relatives at a glance.
