The financial waters, both here and abroad, are troubled now I m convinced that gale-force winds will soon hit us, followed by tidal waves of panic and collapse. Most investors will be stunned by their losses; many will be utterly destroyed; a canny few will not only survive, but prosper.

"I intend to be safe and secure, on dry land, throughout the financial storms to come. In this book, I have explained my goals and my own personal strategy. Hopefully, these words will enable you to travel safely as well."
