This new series draws on the vast information resources of the New York Times and on the talents, backgrounds and insights of the specially qualified authors, most of them members of the Times staff. Each book in the Series is a concise, comprehensive overview dealing with a subject of major concern and interest in domestic or world affairs.

Collectively, THE NEW YORK TIMES SURVEY SERIES is designed to better inform the American people of what is happening around the world today, what underlies our present problems, and what can and should be done about them. These practical "background" books are especially appropriate for busy people--students, professional and business people--who need to know and understand more about the great, relevant issues of the day.
