An English major, teacher and former radio sportstalk show host, Steve Heldt thinks he's well qualified to have written THE BATHROOM BASKETBALL BOOK. He is, but there's much more to his background that lends itself to this sort of thing. And for that, I went directly to the source. Enter Clara Heldt, Steve's mother-- and a nicer woman you won't meet. Mrs. Heldt says the author was potty-trained between the ages of two and three. In fact, to this day there is a crease on the family toilet seat from where little Stevie's potty-seat was fastened. (Steve, that little duck's head on the front of the seat was a real curie pie from what your mother tells me.)

As soon as Steve was able to read, he was reading in the bathroom ... the sports pages, SPORTS ILLUSTRATED, SPORT. You name it, Steve read it. And, Mrs. Heldt claims, "Stevie always read with his little baseball cap on."

Little Stevie got bigger, but not big enough. A good athlete, he just wasn't tall enough to play basketball according to his mother. But read about it, he did. Like Jordan to the air and Magic to the hoop, it was Steve to the hopper.

And so goes the evolution of the man and his book.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Heldt had a favorite bathroom pastime of her own. Though she doesn't do it any more because her eyesight's not what it used to be, she thinks it might make for a good book subject. It would be appropriately called THE BATHROOM CROCHET BOOK.
