BUTTERFLY VALLEY: A Requiem

by Inger Christensen

"Famous in Europe, unknown here, Inger Christensen is a formalist who makes her own rules, then turns the game around with another rule." --Eliot Weinberge

"A fear of what might be and a love of what is speak eloquently from these texts." --World Literature Today

Inger Christensen, often cited as a Nobel contender and one of Europe's most revered poets, is perhaps best known for her groundbreaking work Det (It), a cycle of poems published in 1969. Her first book published in the U.S., alphabet (New Directions, 2001), met with a tremendous response: "Seductive," said Boston Review. "A visionary reincarnation of the natural world in the atomic age," wrote The Chicago Review.

Butterfly Valley: A Requiem collects four medium-length works, each startling for its beauty and formal innovation.

"Buttledly Valley" is a sonnet cycle in which the glowing colors and beauty of butterflies are described. In "Watersteps," the fountains and piazzas of Rome coalesce, brought alive by the imagination in the poem's shifting rhythms, in "Poem on Death" the poet seeking immortality faces the whiteness of the page as the blankness of death. And "Meeting" describes a "coming together," yet examines our failure to connect.
