The new Private Pilot Manual is designed for pilot applicants who are training under FAR Part 141 in FAA approved schools. The manual and supplementary materials also meet the requirements of a home study course for pilot applicants who are seeking certification under FAR Part 61 and are not affiliated with an approved school.

The Private Pilot Manual is an authoritative textbook reference which is flexible, comprehensive, and well illustrated for easier study and understanding. Although this manual will produce good results when studied alone, the best results can be obtained when it is studied as an integral part of the total learning system within which it was designed. The textbook is the central component for academic study in the learning system. The Private Pilot Course contains several other complementary components for study and review of essential material.

1. Private Pilot Audiovisual Presentations review and reinforce the concepts presented in the manual. These motivating visual aids present essential subject areas in brilliant color and synchronized sound.
2. The Private Pilot Workbook contains comprehensive exercises which cover the material presented in the audiovisual course and in the manual. The workbook is designed for individual study and self-checking. The exercises also are necessary completion standards for the ground training lessons in the Training Syllabus.
3. The Private Pilot Stage Examination Set includes exam booklets containing questions over specific chapters of the manual. The exams are designed to evaluate the applicant's progress at various intervals throughout the course.
4. The Private Pilot Final Exam evaluates the applicant's comprehension of subject areas emphasized in the actual FAA written test. The exam booklet contains two exams with a common reference section and reflects the subject areas introduced in the new series of FAA exams. Answer keys and comprehensive critiques also are available.
5. The Private Pilot Training Syllabus provides a lesson-by-lesson guide for completion of the ground and flight training required under FAR Part 141. The Training Syllabus is required for all applicants who are enrolled in approved schools and also is beneficial for applicants seeking certification outside of approved schools.

The information presented in the Private Pilot Course provides the necessary framework for a successful training program. Applicants who complete this course of study under the guidance of a qualified instructor will be well prepared for the FAA written examination and flight test.
