\"Soi¼Œ what s your schedule like these days?\" a travel writer friend of mine recently asked on the phone.
\"Welli¼Œ I leave for Iceland Friday and I ll be there for a week.\"
\"Ohi¼Œ Iceland--I love Icelandi¼Œ Be sure to go to the restaurant 0oinsve in Reykjavik. Order the Arctic charr. When you get backi¼Œ
 we ll have to get togetheri¼Œ but after I get back from Barbados.\" \"You re going to Barbados? You ve got to call my friend Margaret when you re down there. She knows everything there is to know about Barbados. In facti¼Œ I m going there next month to update my book.\" \"Oh welli¼Œ maybe H1 wait and go with you. (Pause as she looks at her calendar). Noi¼Œ actuallyi¼Œ I can t. I ll be driving down the coast of Oregon for a story.\"
\"Oregon. Lucky you. There s a wonderful inn in Newport ~ ~.\"
 If a so-called \"normal\" person (or a \"mortal\" as my friend Tad refers to people who are not travel writers) heard this conversation¼Œ
