It all started over 15 years ago when I woke up one morning with this word "Satya" in my head. No visuals or remnants of a dream accompanied this word only a strong auditory sense of it being imprinted on my mind. It was mystifying. What language was it and where did it come from? The word sounded Indian certainly from that part of the world. As lucky or as I like to call it Godforce would have it I was tutoring a Fijian Indian lady in English at the time so I was able to ask her. The answer came back: "It means true or truth". I discovered that it was from Sanskrit an ancient language in which the sacred Hindu texts known as the Vedas were written. At the time I felt excited by this message of Truth but also at a loss to know what the message meant. Who had sent it to me an ordinary mum and housewife certainly with no psychic abilities and with no connection to India? And why? Of course I didn't have any conception of what the significance was to be but a seed had been planted and a growing time was to begin. The years passed and I put this word to the back of my mind as I got on with my life. Having been a literacy tutor
