

The power to communicate: Gender differences as barriers

The power to communicate: Gender differences as barriers 下载链接1

著者:

出版者:

出版时间:

装帧:

isbn:9780881331301

Book Description Since the publication of the first edition, The Power to communicate has provided an important, essential perspective on male/ female communication in both personal and professional settings. Refined in detail, it continues to help readers gain insights into the communicative behavior that is part of the female/male experience in contemporary culture by examining differences in communication styles and behavior. Both sexes will benefit from the authors' provocative, skill-based strategies and techniques designed for breaking free from persistent traditional attitudes. --This text refers to the Paperback edition. From the Publisher Titles of related interest from Waveland Press: Arliss-Borisoff, Women and

Men Communicating: Challenges and Changes, Second Edition (ISBN 1577661680);
Bate-Bowker, Communication and the Sexes, Second Edition (ISBN 0881339334); and Foss et al., Readings in Feminist Rhetorical Theory (ISBN 1577664973). --This text refers to the Paperback edition.

作者介绍:

目录:

The power to communicate: Gender differences as barriers_ 下载链接1_

标签

评论

The power to communicate: Gender differences as barriers_ 下载链接1_

书评

The power to communicate: Gender differences as barriers_ 下载链接1_