This book happened because I was worried and bewildered about changes in my own breasts. As I talked to other women I found that many of them shared my concerns~and that few of them were getting the answers they needed. I was fortunate enough to discover the Breast Health Center at Children's Hospital of San Francisco. They helped me and then agreed to collaborate on a book to share their information and practical counsel with women everywhere. This book is not about breast cancer. It's about all the breast changes that aren't breast cancer~from the most innocent general lumpiness through breast carcinoma in situ (noninvasive breast carcinoma)~a topic of special interest to the breast team at Children's Hospital. (Doctors still disagree on whether breast carcinoma in situ is properly classified as the last stage in a continuum of benign breast changes oras an early cancer.) My thanks go to the members (current and for-mer) of the breast health team at Children s Hospital:Cathy Colemanï¼ R.N.ï¼ nurse specialist; Patricia T.Kellyï¼ Ph.D.ï¼ medical geneticist; Michael D. Lagiosï¼M.D.ï¼ pathologist; Frederick Margolinï¼ M.D.ï¼ radiolo-gist; Pat Kizpolski McCarthyï¼ R.N.ï¼ MSNï¼ oncologynurse consultant; Jon Rossiï¼ M.D.ï¼ pathologist; andPhilip Westdahlï¼ M.D.ï¼ surgeon. Not only did they pro-vide information and moral supportï¼ but also edito-rial review of the manuscript. I am also grateful toVirginia Griswoldï¼ M.D.ï¼ radiologist; David A. Woodï¼M.D.ï¼ cancer researcher; Carolyn Gale Andersonï¼masseuse; and Edwin Silverbergï¼ statisticiansï¼ Ameri-can Cancer Societyï¼ New York for their assistance. I thank the members of my own breast healthteam: Peter Sapienzaï¼ M.D.ï¼ surgeon and RichardDorsayï¼ M.D.ï¼ radiologist with the Kaiser-Permanente
