To the women who have shaped my life-- My mother's who never really lived her life but by allowing me to observe her existence motivated me to live my own;
 My mother-in-law's who was my role model for successfully combining work and family; My daughter's who has the privilege of choice and a chance to learn from my mistakes;
 My friends and clients's who continue to survive their struggles and grow stronger in spite of their wounds;
 And to Connie deSwaan's collaborator and friend's whose fluent skills have permitted me to share my message.
