I WAS AN only child---~nd so I became an only man.
 My name is Joshua ~!gg: a joke life played on me~¼ as I am quite small. Five feet~¼ three and three-eighths inches~¼ to be precise. In a world of giants~¼ those eighths are precious to the midget.
 That was the first of fortune's tricks. There were others.
For instance~¼ I was orphaned at the age of three months when my parents were killed in the sudden collapse of a bridge over the Skunk River near Oskaloosa~¼ Iowa. As their pickup truck toppled~¼ I was thrown clear and was found later lying in a clump of laurel~¼ gurgling happily and sucking my toe.
 People said it was a miracle. But of course they weren't the orphan. Years later~¼ when Roscoe Dollworth was teaching me to be an investigator~¼ he had something to say on the subject. He had just learned that he had a small gastric ulceri¼Œ

after months of worrying about stomach cancer. Just an ulcer.
Everyone told him how lucky he was:
\"Lucki¼Œ\" Roscoe saidi¼Œ \"is something that happens to other people.\"
I was raised by my mother s brother and his wife: Philo and
