What Is Investing?
INVESTING IS USING MONEY for the primary purpose of making more money. Investing is also using money to boost income or to increase capital. Every person who has ever made an investment does so for one or more of the above reasons. These reasons have existed from the beginning of time. It is both interesting and amusing to look up the word invest in a fifty-year-old dictionary or thesaurus. I found adages as old-fashioned as "to feather one's nest" admonitions such as "guard against" and definitions as enduring as "save to fall back upon" or "prepare and provide for." You'll note that none of these phrases even hint that there's anything to be gained by keeping your money under the mattress or burying it in a pot in the back yard. Hidden money doesn't earn interest. Entombed money doesn't work for

 Money matters currently seem to come into focus for most women twice a year:
December and April.
 In December you realize the fiscal and calendar year is
