God's Image
the image of the invisible God. Colossians 1:15 hen Paul says that Christ is "the image of the invisible" he means that Christ came to give us a visible expression of a God who is invisible. "He who has seen me has seen the Father" Jesus told his disciples. That is why no one without access to a Bible can claim ignorance of what God is like. But he is much more than that. Jesus Christ is a reflection of what man was intended to be. One of the remarkable enigmatic things about man is his schizophrenia. Creativity oozes from his pores. He can do magnificent things. Walk around the world with half an open eye and you'll be awestruck at the sheer brilliance of him. At the same time however we humans are capable of unpardonable cruelty and hostility. We pervert and pollute the most precious and beautiful things in the most dastardly¼☒cardly way imaginable.¼☒How can these two impulses co-exist? How can man-¼☒d be so creative and yet so destructive? I submit that the¼☒y adequate theory sees mankind as having a marred¼☒tice of the divine image. We were created perfect¼☒ but¼☒ fell. Then Christ came into the world¼☒ and against a¼☒en humanity¼☒ he stands supreme. In so doing he demon-¼☒~tes how far we have fallen.¼☒If ever we want to know how we re doing as human¼☒ngs¼☒ we mustn t compare ourselves with ourselves. In-¼☒ad we must measure ourselves against Jesus¼☒ the image of¼☒
