If you've ever learned that a loved-one has been diagnosed with cancer, you have probably been stricken with a feeling of helplessness. Written from a survivor's perspective, &quot;I Didn't Know What To Do&quot; is a compilation of inspiring, idea-packed stories from survivors on what family and friends did to encourage and support them in their time of need. No doubt, your loved-one will be as touched as these people were. This book is the reason you'll never have to say, &quot;I didn't know what to do.&quot;
