A generation ago ~eilhard de Chardin made a prediction has now become a~ltural reality: \"Like the meridians a~ approach the pole~ science~ philosophy and religior bound to converge as they draw nearer to the whole.\" a fanciful thought that P~re Teilhard had in those dark war days in Paris when he meant seemed to be the ulti expression of Western civilization~ but now it is exciti
hear the scientist and the mystic speak in similar terms. \" new book~
The Survival of the Wisest~
Dr. Jonas Salk
forth a theory of individual and group evolution tt remarkably similar to the work of David Spangler.
My
aim here is to suggest that the tendency toward t separation and isolation of human groups according EGO values that have formed and prevailed until m has prevented the recognition and expression of t BEING. They have favored the association individuals according to EGO values rather than BEING values. If this is suspected from what has been happening in the human realm, BEING standards emerging with EGO values appropriate there removing the encumbrance of essentially foreign EGO values which contributed to the development enormous internal and external conflicts. Then Man entering upon a new phase of his evolution development.
