ONE
hese snapshots were nothing more than animal protein and a couple layers of colored dye and silver nitrate that the light got at for a microsecond.
They were no more substantial than that--they weren't Anne or even representations of Anne because the animal proteins the dyes and silver nitrate had no intention of creat-ing representations of her.These snapshots were a fraud because theycoaxed from him only microseconds of Anne's lifeas he had witnessed it and remembered it. Andher life could not be measured in microseconds.So if the police photographsthe photographstaken at her autopsy (and it was not her autopsyat allwas it?) showed a face as placid and blankas airthey showed only a couple hours of the existence of flesh over bone. Then the decay startedin earnest and those imagesas wellbecame a lie.Stillhe had to take these snapshots out and look
