"People who believe in good surprises are always young., no matter what their real age is."

It's been twenty-five years since they were graduated from Radcliffe and Harvard. On the surface they seem to be living the lives they were intended for. Attractive and privileged, people whom others might envy; hiding the mistakes of the past, the betrayals of the present

EMILY. The good wife, the good mother, the invisible person; propelled toward a destiny she could never have dreamed.

ANNABEL. Rebel and free spirit; one of the beautiful, successful, loving single women who can't find a man worthy of them.

CHRIS. Let "normal" people tell the truth: she wouldn't, even to herself, until she realized where her romantic obsession had brought her.

DAPHNE. Still the Golden Girl, living a charmed life based on secrets and deception-until the
