For more than a century, ORT (Organization For Rehabilitation Through Training) has trained the hands and minds of the Jewish people throughout the world. Today, ORT is more than a network of fine vocational and technical schools for teenagers and adults in 35 countries, including the United States. It is a program with a purpose and philosophy which provides marketable skills for tomorrow s technological world, while playing an important role in the lives of its students, their families and their communities.

Chefs EscORT is dedicated to the 26,000 members of the Southeast District of Women s American ORT with sincere appreciation for their generosity in sharing their faw~rite recipes. The proceeds from this book will help escort nearly 200,000 students annually through their technological training. This training, and the students exposure to ORT s ever-increasing world-wide program of democratic and social action, will enable these graduates to be among the most productive members of the 21st century.
