During the 1980s and 1990s, the Asian continent saw the development of hundreds of skyscrapers. Many of them match and some surpass similar architecture in the USA and Europe. Tall Buildings of Asia and Australia is an impressive selection of the tallest and most innovative skyscrapers that have been constructed in Asia and Australia in the past three decades, particularly those built in the 1990s. Many of the buildings depicted are landmarks already. Featured architects include, amongst others, Harry Seidler and Associates, T. R. Hamzah and Yeang, I. M. Pei and Partners, Foster and Partners and Skidmore Owings and Merrill LLP.
