A fun-filled story where thirteen-year-old Eric Thomas and his brother Buzz embark on the adventure of a lifetime on the Pacific Ocean. Never did they believe their summer vacation would become a wacky, twisted journey that would test their guts. Eric believed he could save the day, but never imagined he could become a hero too!

The only thing that mattered now--escape. We ran against a ticking clock, every second counting. I knew my plan would fail if we didn't get to a lifeboat and get off this ship. The explosion would be as powerful as if a bomb exploded. The ship would sink fast like the Titanic. Danger, risk, high stakesmyou name it; I was living life on the edge. Doom was turning out to be my middle name. As we ran the only thought that raced through me was: Will my plan work? It's either victory or defeat. What is going to happen?
