The profile of a city is made up of its architecture, historical relics and natural environment. Vestiges of history, nevertheless, often become the interests that tourists seek after. Even bits and traces can bring posterity infinite historical imagination. While the modern history of Shanghai is full of legends, its future is viewed with great expectations. As very probably China will become the superpower of the Orient in the twenty-first century, to understand the course taken by China, it is impossible not to go to Shanghai. What is valuable about this portfolio of Shanghai is that apart from the photos themed on the Bund, the photographer also catches glimpses of the daily life of the Shanghainese, observing the masses behind the apparent prosperity, and depicts a lot the rapid changes of the city while recounting its bygone golden years of the last century.
