Additional stories include: The Ehrengraf Reverse by Lawrence Sanders, Semi-Pro by James Crumley, A Sunday in January by Brendan DuBois, Whatever it Takes to Win by Tim Green, Good Seats by Colin Harrison, Gone Down to Corpus by Dennis Lehane, No Thing by Mike Lupica, The Empire Strikes Back by Brad Meltzer, The Arcane Receiver by Carol O'Connell, The End of Innocence by Anne Perry, Hollywood Spring and Axle by Gary Phillips, Gone to the Dawgs by Peter Robinson, Rumors of Gravity by John Westermann. These tales of football (and in one case European football, rugby) include macabre deaths, ultimate suspense, theft, drugs, big money and football. Tales of Super Bowl Sunday, NFL teams, has-been players, great fans, and final plays are a collection like no other. All the best writers in one book, edited by the famous Otto Penzler, founder of The Mysterious Press.
