Testing the limits is Dr. Jasper Hodgkin's profession, but the world of academia holds few rewards for practitioners of the unconventional discipline of parapsychology. After a pioneering breakthrough linking telepathic communication to behavior modification, Jasper is lured away from his English university research labs and from his bright, dedicated assistant, Becky Ryan into the more lucrative world of business speculation at Costigan Futures.

When Jasper disappears from his new Southern California home, however, Becky doesn't need psychic ability to sense foul play. She teams up with investigative journalist Andrew Taggart to get the answers behind Jasper's disappearance or death. Along the way they run afoul of the masterminds behind Costigan Futures, who arc out to ensure that the political, as well as the financial, world of the future matches their "predictions." If Taggart can get the story behind the sinister complex of psychics, businessmen, and stock market manipulators, his future reputation will be assured. All Becky wants to know is that Jasper is still alive

In this sophisticated thriller, Ruth Brandon questions the very real application of psychic prediction in an unpredictable world.
