Not known for playing by the rules, Detective Rebecca Montgomery will do whatever it takes to track down the monster who is killing young women, especially when it seems that one of his victims includes her baby sister - even if that means teaming up with Diego Galvan, a man whose motives are murky at best. The mysterious stranger who keeps turning up wherever Becca is may be working for both the good guys and the bad guys. Becca knows better than to trust him, but good or bad, right now he may be the only one who can help her find the truth.
