Graphis New Talent Annual 2009 pays tribute to late designer and SVA instructor, Jeffrey Metzner, with his last interview, most memorable work and a comment from his colleague, Richard Wilde. Opening commentary also features a profile of the SADI School of Design in South Korea, an institute whose student work is gaining the attention of the Design world. Work by winners of Chris Hill's Creative Summit are included with Michael Cronan's interviews with the past winners, speakers, and judges from the annual conference. In each edition, the New Talent annual showcases the best international student Design, Photography, and Advertising work. Platinum winning instructors are chosen for the students with the most work, and full-color images from each Gold winner are included with full credits and indices listed by instructors, schools and students. It provides young talent a rare opportunity for exposure and recognition, and serves as an invaluable resource for Design and Advertising firms seeking the best and brightest new professionals.
