A perceptive friend who visited us in Dooneen expressed some admiration for the life we had developed here, but added to me: "You could never do this without Mary." It is true of our farming operations and perhaps even more true of the writing of this book. It is the story of a mutual experience; I cannot say which ideas are my wife's and which are mine. Our Irish friends and neighbors have been vastly kind and patient in teaching us about rural Ireland. Of the approximately 1,200 people in our parish there are few, if any, to whom we are not in some way indebted.
