Dear Reader,

One of my Pavodte old movies, Teacher s Pet, starring Clak Gable and Dods Day, inspired me to create a hero who masquerades as someone he s not. Combine that potentially explosive Ingredient with a lively, trusting heroine who takes truth, honesty and honor very sedously and you have a redpe for trouble. No matter what pretty name, or justifiable reason, you attach to deception, It s what It is and, Inevitably, it returns to haunt you---usually In the worst way. at the worst of all possible moments. just ask Daniel Grayson, the hero of A Regular Joe. Too late, he realizes he s on a collision course with self-Imposed disaster and that he s head over heels in love with Marie Roland, the bubbly, unique female he thoroughly deceived. If Mattie discovers the truth, the fur wll fly--most of It Daniel s, no doubt. Since Daniel lied about his Identity, how can he convince Mattie that he speaks the truth when he says he loves her? Like she ll believe that, coming from his lying lips!

moral of this stood? The lies you tell are gonna get you if you don t watch out/And so, dear readers, the charade beans...

EnJoy!
