About one in ten people in the UK are affected by some degree of dyslexia which, in its severest form, makes ordinary books difficult or impossible to read. This new collection of poetry compiled by the brilliant Roger Stevens has been designed with these readers in mind. As well as sixty wonderfully funny poems that will be enjoyed by everyone, layout, font and paper colour have been designed to make the book easy to read for people with dyslexia. The book is being published in conjunction with Dyslexia Action.
