"Teachers' Choice Awards for Children's Books, 2005" -Learning Magazine "Notable Social Studies Trade Books for Young People, 2005" -National Council on the Social Studies and the Children's Book Council "Bullying is frequently enabled by the bystander who says, "it's not my responsibility." 'What could I do?'" "I didn't know." Written with sensitivity, appropriate directness, and astute caveats, 'Say Something' provides a critical alert for children and parents alike with an early, important lesson in civic responsibility." -Peter Yarrow of Peter, Paul, and Mary. Founder, Operation Respect/Don't Laugh at Me "Bravo, Moss and Lyon, for giving parents and teachers a wonderful new resource to help children make their way as caring, responsible citizens" -Ellen Hofheimer Bettmann, Co-author of "Hate Hurts: How Children Learn and Unlearn Prejudice"
