Among the environmental challenges facing us is alleviating the damage to marine ecosystems caused by pollution and overfishing. Coming to grips with contemporary problems, this book argues, depends on understanding how people have historically generated, perceived, and responded to environmental change. This work explores interactions between society and environment in China's most important marine fishery, the Zhoushan Archipelago off the coast of Zhejiang and Jiangsu, from its nineteenth-century expansion to the exhaustion of the most important fish species in the 1970s.

This history of Zhoushan's fisheries illuminates long-term environmental processes and analyzes the intersections of local, regional, and transnational ecological trends and the array of private and state interests that shaped struggles for the control of these common-pool natural resources. What institutions did private and state actors use to regulate the use of the fishery? How did relationships between social organizations and the state change over time? What types of problems could these arrangements solve and which not? What does the fate of these institutions tell us about environmental change in late imperial and modern China? Answering these questions will give us a better understanding of the relationship between past ecological changes and present environmental challenges.

评论

填补了民国海洋环境史的空白，应该是目前为止和我的研究最契合的一本书了。这本书的立论其实很传统，他认为人与自然的关系变化并不肇始于技术变革，而是技术变革所催生的人类可以凌驾于自然的这种心态。但是于自然而言，人类始终都是索取者，竭泽而渔的理想和行动在农业社会和工业社会都存在。fishing lodge一部分完全可以扩充成一本好的小说。

-----
和晚期帝国有关的部分为commercial integration, future market and guilds formation, response to limited natural resource and tragedy of the commons.
最后两章居然是抱着围观群众吃瓜的心态看完的。。。

Best!!!Marine ecosystem

-----
民国环境史史料不全，选地区做是蛮好的解决办法。渔业也非传统经济史的重点对象，算是填补空白之作。梳理了很多方志和史料，也是一个贡献。

书评

The Fishing War adopted a more traditional way of research and writing. This book focused mostly on Zhoushan islands in Chinese Republic before 1937, a time when collapse of the Qing created a site of power struggle for Nationalist, regional administration,...
