

DOLPHINS

DOLPHINS_下载链接1

著者:

出版者:

出版时间:

装帧:

isbn:9780792233725

Foreword by Jean-Michel Cousteau. Few people will ever have the chance to encounter Atlantic spotted dolphins or duskie in the wild. But Dolphins author Tim Cahill offers the next best thing to a firsthand experience, bringing to life a thrilling world where creatures are as delicate as a jellyfish and as powerful as a killer whale. Cahill captures the exhilaration, risks, and rewards of studying these intelligent and friendly mammals in their habitat. As he explores the lives and careers of three scientists, a dolphin communication specialist, a dolphin behavior expert, and their mentor, he explains how each type of dolphin exhibits distinctive traits, social routines, and feeding habits—much like their human counterparts. Cahill’s narrative, accompanied by compelling and informative essays written by scientific experts, expands to include current debates regarding dolphin conservation and the fishing industry, studying dolphins in the wild versus in captivity, and the anthropomorphism of dolphins. Available for the first time in paperback and featuring more than 200 stunning photographs—many from the Academy Award-nominated Dolphins, a MacGillivray Freeman Film for IMAX® theaters—Dolphins provides an unparalleled glimpse into the realm of these enchanting creatures.

作者介绍:

目录:

DOLPHINS 下载链接1

标签

评论

DOLPHINS 下载链接1

书评

DOLPHINS 下载链接1