There are those who laugh at themselves and there are those who laugh at others. This book is motivated by the former in spite of the latter.

作者介绍:

YC Goh has an Advance Diploma in Human Resource Management and a Bachelor of Business from La Trobe University in Australia. For a while now, he has been trying to get an MBA to impress people, but could not get past the most critical thing about getting an MBA, which is to find the time to fill out the registration form.

YC is happily married with 2 daughters. His wife is a simple housewife, whose hidden agenda in life is to make him a bankrupt before he celebrates his 40th birthday. Three years later, his children, aged 5 and 7, are the cutest things on the surface of this earth. They have a uncanny but gifted ability to coordinate among themselves and take turns to drive him up the wall.
