Do you have any idea who would want to do something like this to your housekeeper, Colonel Driver?"

The officer shook his head. "I don't even know what happened to her, Inspector. All I know is there is a helluva lot of blood all over the first floor bathroom. I don't even know how she died."

The young Lieutenant swallowed hard. "Your housekeeper is dead, Colonel Driver, because someone carved her heart out. And I think it's safe to say that what we're dealing with here is not a typical homicide, Colonel, not by a long shot. What we've got here is something unusual, real un-usual."
