In a bizarre assassination plot aimed at the two world leaders, the Russian premier is killed. Sven Ericson, President of the United States, has survived.., but the lusty, vital young leader is totally blind. In a world he can no longer see, ~he political fangs are bared. The jackals line up on either side to drive him from office--or clamor for power in the crisis.

Who can he trust now?

Which of his well-kept secrets will rise up now to strike him down? Can he trust his friends? His advisors? Can he even trust the woman who knows his deepest, most private hungers?

While a frightened world waits, Ericson begins fighting back.., in the dark.
