Victor Gruen (1903-1980) is the commercial architect who became renowned in the 1950s America as the "pioneer of shopping center", then by his urban redevelopment projects as the "saviour of the downtowns", and by the mid-1960s as the "architect of environment". This book will focus on Gruen's theories and projects in the American practice between 1938 and 1968: especially with respect to the return of the city centre and urban culture as the focus of social and cultural life of the region.

续上面一本书..美国很多中小城市实际是一个decay的过程..这书是旧书..但作者很有预见的看到了21世纪..complexity of the reasons for their decay..那么要思考的是对人的影响...life arrangement..habit and transportation..想起短期居住过的某个upstate的村..以前是IBM重镇..现在周围盛产苹果+培养厨子..很凋敝的感觉..
